Dear Eric,

Thanks again for your congratulations. The ANA certainly got a lot of press in Baltimore, almost all of it positive for a change.

As you might imagine, ANA policy does not allow us to give out the home addresses of members. I do not have his telephone number (couldn't give it to you either) but I could give you his e-mail if he had one. What I can do is tell you Werner is still a member (life member since 1953) and that he lives in Sarasota, FL. If you wish to send a letter to him through me, we can do that. Just enclose your letter to Werner in a larger envelope, and I will forward it on to him. He may then contact you directly and away you go.

I know it is cumbesome but it is the best I can do under the circumstances.

Hope this helps.

Larry

PS I'm still chuckling over the coin holder joke.

Dear Larry: Some of my jokes are a little weird but I could not resist the coin holder one. I am so glad all your work on the Convention turned out so well. Congratulations. As far as Werner Amelingmeier is concerned he could have been a life member and had no dues to pay. Then his membership may have continued even though he died because ANA may have received no record of his death. The mailings may have continued and been accepted by some one. His dues may also have been paid by someone other than himself. He may be alive and well. Will you be nice enough to check up in the matter and get me the address if that is permitted.
Eric

Dear Larry:

Your gracious letter dated March 15, 2002 as to exhibiting at the ANA Museum is most appreciated. The exhibition idea serves the public as well as encourages the exhibitor to continue to do the same in other locations. This is important because looking at web sites is not the same as looking at books.

At present I am in negotiations to reinstate the Money Museum I had for 20 years in St. Louis and hope to re-establish it here. This is requiring my input for the present but I will certainly reconsider your offer thereafter.

I am delighted that you are obviously enjoying your new position and will help develop public numismatic enthusiasm and research.

My kindest regards,

Dear Eric,

I wanted to thank you for considering loaning part of your collection to the ANA for a temporary exhibit. I'm sorry it did not work out this time, but please keep us in mind for the future. If I can be of any assistance in helping you reestablish your own museum, please do not hesitate to call on me.

Most Sincerely,

Larry Lee, Curator
